ACADEMICS

Every year, the Oldenburg Academy Journalism class takes a trip to Ball State University for "J-Day" (Journalism Day) to learn about improving the yearbook and to get new ideas for the future. The whole class had a fun day of laughs and learning!

1. Margaret Glaser, Maria Lewis, and Grace Burkhardt show off their Maple Cola product to the class for a Business project.
2. The 8th period Business/Personal Finance class smile for a group picture at the Etiquette Lunch hosted by Batesville Casket Company.
3. The three winning groups of the Maverick Challenge stand with their mentors.

Maverick Challenge

The Entrepreneurship class participated in the Maverick Challenge. At the county competition, Caroline Storms and Zoe Brown placed first with their product Bags for Bambinos. Sam Gast, Greg Schroeder, and Chase Hogg placed second with Knu Eyes, and Tanner Alley and Zach Pottschmidt placed third with their product The Tater Truck. Those three groups moved on to the Regional Competition. At the Regional Competition, Tanner and Zach placed third, with Sam, Chase, and Greg receiving an honorable mention.

Tanner Alley and Zach Pottschmidt pose with potatoes, an integral part of their business.

"Participating in the Maverick Challenge was an exceptional experience. It taught me a lot through the long hours we put into preparing our business and then presenting it. In the end, we got to reap the rewards of our hard work by winning third place at Regionals, which was amazing and made it all worth it."

- Tanner Alley

In Anatomy, Marlissa Cranert dissects a heart while Maggie Bruns assists her by reading the instructions.

In Chemistry II, students work on their study guides for the semester final.

Ana White shows the solution on the board to her classmates in Chemistry I.

1.

2.

1. In AP Biology, students work hard on their worksheets.
2. During Anatomy, Erica Geers, Breeanna Zimmer, and Maria Lewis listen to the lecture from Mrs. Miller about the difference between a human spine and an animal spine.

Science

In AP Chemistry, Luke Weisenbach and Elizabeth Fiutem carefully filter a reaction mixture to get a clear solution. Mr. Armbruster observes the experiment.

On a field trip, students in AP Biology had the opportunity to ride horses at Salt Creek Horse Ranch.

Math

In Algebra I, a group of students work together and discuss a question that is hard to solve.

In Pre-Calculus, Mrs. Grills teaches students how to solve a problem, and the students pay close attention.

1.

1. Students focus on completing their math worksheet.

2. In Pre-Calculus, John Pelzel asks Mrs. Grills a question while trying to solve his problem.

3. During AP Calculus, Anya Smith takes a break after solving a hard problem, Erica Geers reviews problems on her iPad, and Jacob Fairfield tries to find a derivative.

4. Andrea Rinck shows how excited she is to learn in AP Calculus.

2.

4.

Decker Horninger tries to solve an integral in AP Calculus.

In Geometry, students try to solve the math problem on their worksheet.

In AP Calculus, Zoe Brown looks at the solution on the board.

"I feel like English is where our minds think out loud. Our thoughts are put into words on paper. Once they are out in the open, it makes it easier to connect with others." -Any Smith, '16

The Old Man and the Sea

Carly Wagers and Matthew Moorman star in Nathan Hubert's one-act play about Sherlock Holmes for his Multi-Genre Project.

Outliers Nickle and Dimed The Grapes of Wrath The Crucible Pride and Prejudice

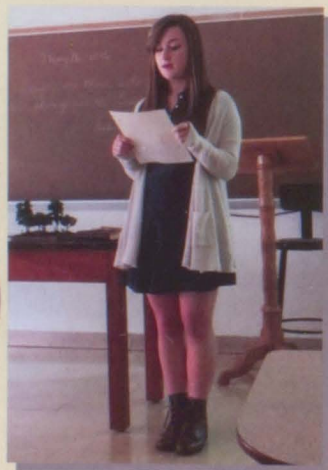

A group of Juniors enjoy a Great Gatsby-themed party to celebrate the Roaring 20s culture after reading the book.

The Freshman enjoy reading Fahrenheit 451 by Ray Bradbury. By sitting in a circle, the class can better discuss the enlightening book.

Stella Hillenbrand reads in Mrs. Whitehair's class about a future where books are burned instead of read.

Mikaela Fangman reads Tess's will as part of her Multi-Genre project on Tess of Thomas Hardy's Tess of the D'Urbervilles.

Romeo and Juliet Mice and Men Lord of the Flies

As I Lay Dying The Good Earth Antigone A Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovich

Spanish

¡Hola!

¡Gracias!

The Freshman in Spanish I are excited to learn common Spanish words and how to conjugate verb tenses.

¿Cómo estás?

¡Buenos días!

¡Gracias!

¡Bienvenidos!

To help learn vocabulary, Christopher Moorman and his Spanish class enjoy playing games such as Hangman.

Engineering

Junior Samantha Nobbe and Freshman Lucas Mcfee focus on their pop quiz.

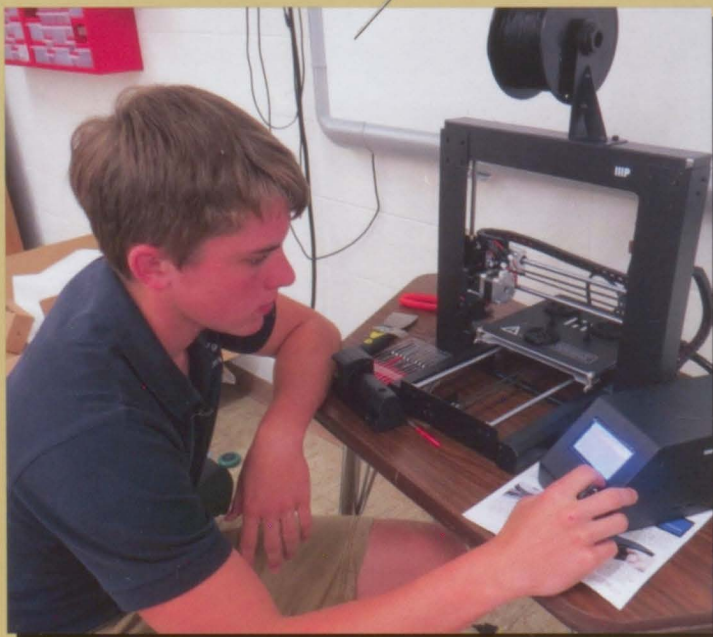

A group of first year engineers use the computers to finish an assignment.

Junior Steven Wolfert uses a remote control to move his robot through a maze.

Engineering in 3-D

This year, the Engineering class invested in a new 3-D printer. Students are now able to transfer designs and models through the printer, creating a real 3-D version of their creations. Junior Max Mayborg puts the printer to good use for a project.

Native American Doug Poe visits the Senior religion class to inform the students about his people and the issues they face in the world today. He showed students different activities and special events that take place on reservations.

Students in Religion 10 engage in a class discussion with teacher Mr. Macke. Sophomore Glenn Geraci raises his hand to answer a question.

The Senior class took a field trip to the Cincinnati Islamic Center, where they learned about the culture and religion of Muslims. Here, the class gathers to take a group picture in the mosque.

Have you ever wanted to learn more about or learn how to play an instrument? OA offers many fun instrumental classes including: Orchestra, Music Lessons, Electronic Music, Music and Art, and Music Theory.

Instrumental

The Steel drum band practices for the Christmas Concert.

Matt Zinser, Liam Mungcal, Josie Wessler, and Elizabeth Schulte play a special piece at the Spring Concert.

"Being a part of the Orchestra for the last three years has been extraordinary. Everyone has such a unique personality, and it has been so cool to experience all of them. Miss Wampler picks the perfect 'tunes' to demonstrate that although Oldenburg is a small school, the tiny group of musicians we have truly comes together to create a mighty sound!" -

Elizabeth Schulte, '17

1. The Orchestra plays some tunes for the guests at the Dinner Auction.

2. Sophomore Zach West works on a project in the Music Lab for Electronic Music.

2.

Bryce Ahaus and Jason Kline practice guitar during their lessons.

What It's All About

Adopt-A-Sis is a club that enables Oldenburg Academy students to spend time with and get to know the Sisters of Saint Francis. The relationships built between student and Sister truly last for a lifetime. Even after students graduate, they often come back to visit their Sisters. This has grown into an unique Oldenburg Academy tradition that everyone has the chance to enjoy. A four year member, Emma Geis, says, "Getting to know my Sis was a great experience! I loved sharing things with her and hearing about the work she does in the Church."

The Senior boys separate into small groups and play a game called "The Centipede." From this game, they learned more about each other, and they also had more experiences with teamwork and class bonding.

The Senior Retreat is another overnight retreat for the Senior class. During this overnight retreat, the Seniors learned more about themselves and each other.

They also learned about what they are called to do in their faith life. Along with that, the Seniors enjoyed many amazing small group talks and class bonding activities. For the dinner during this retreat, the Senior girls were treated to a pasta dinner served completely by the Senior boys.

This included everything from pulling out the chairs to getting the girls' dinner and drinks. The boys served the girls in appreciation for all that they have done. The Senior boys did a great job being gentlemen.

Awards Day represents all the hard work put in by students and teachers. It also means another school year has come to a close! OA cannot wait to welcome most of the students back in the fall. Freshmen, you will not be the youngest in the halls anymore, and Sophomores, you will be upperclassmen. Juniors, you are going to be the oldest students walking around campus. As for the Seniors, the OA community wishes you good luck as you move into a new chapter in life. Congratulations to all the students on another year in the books!

This day is all about celebrating the Seniors and their accomplishments throughout the past four years at Oldenburg Academy. The day starts out with an all-school awards ceremony. The Seniors then head to the gym to enjoy lunch with their families and watch a video full of memories from the past four years. The day ends with the Senior Mass, which is celebrated with the entire school and the Seniors' families. This is a great way to wrap up the Seniors' time at Oldenburg Academy, and to come together as a class for one of the last times. Congratulations Seniors! You all have a bright future ahead of you!

1. Bobby Ash carries in a rose to represent the class's involvement in music and drama.
2. Luke Weisenbach carries in a soccer trophy, which represents all the athletic accomplishments of the class.
3. Kevin Wang carries in a Chinese Knot to represent the four Chinese students in the Senior class. It is also a symbol of how the class is tied together.
4. Tyler Hesselbrock carries in a class photo, which represents the Class of 2016 as a family.

One Final Note From the Staff...

Dear Readers,

The making of this yearbook has been quite the journey. In August, we started out as a group of students, all having our own different ideas, and not really sure what we were doing in the class. Now, here we are in June, spending our summertime finishing things up and happy to be done with this amazing project.

The theme, "Destination DA," came from the idea that students, faculty, and staff travel from all over just to get to one place. That is pretty cool and unique to this school, so we thought, why not make that the theme of our yearbook?

Throughout the year, we went through many rough patches, but in the end we were able to work things out. Some things we learned are that pictures are not always easy to get, captions can be very hard to think of, page designs do not just appear, and all conflicts can be solved with a little bit of food. As you could imagine, things did not always go as planned, but that is okay.

We had an amazing staff this year and could not have pulled this off without everyone's help. First, thank you to Mr. Maple for being a great teacher and putting up with us for forty-four minutes every day. Our Staffers, Pamela Chen, Emma Gels, and Claudia Schuckmann, did a wonderful job doing a little bit of everything, from taking pictures to editing other people's pages. Our Copy Editor, Grace Burkhardt, worked super hard and did an awesome job making sure everything was spelled correctly and captions made sense. Our Photo Editors, Regan Horan and Taylor McGraw, worked hard to make sure the pictures looked good and the correct people were tagged. A BIG recognition goes to our Chief Photographer, Kevin Wang, who was at almost every school sport or event to take pictures for us. He put TONS of work into his job, and this yearbook would not be possible without him. Our Business Manager, Olivia Geracl, had the difficult task of taking care of all the ads, but she did a fantastic job making sure checks were in and pages looked good. Last but not least, our Co-Editors-in-Chief, Kirsten Stenger and Shannon Deal, oversaw all pages, pictures, and work put into the book, while at the same time trying to keep the peace amongst the staff. Thanks to everyone for your hard work because it has really paid off!

In closing, we hope you enjoy this yearbook and cherish the memories found in it forever!

Yours Truly,

Kevin Wang
